Quality Assurance Manager--Anchorage, Alaska

Key quality leadership role within growing company! Premier producer of Alaskan seafood. Enjoying record breaking sales!

Providing direct sales of smoked and fresh salmon, halibut, and cod to customers, our client has established itself as a leading supplier of wild Alaskan freshwater fish. In business since 1996, the company is growing exponentially, and is in need of a Quality Assurance Manager for its Anchorage plant. Employees at the plant harvest and process the yearly catch, and the company is looking for a manager to oversee the quality department in a year-round capacity due to their continued growth and success.

Ideal candidates will possess the following:

- BS degree in Food Science or related area;
- 7-10 years of experience within the food industry in a quality management role;
- Experience in the seafood industry highly preferred;
- Knowledge of relevant FDA, USDC, and DEC regulations and regulatory framework;
- Strong auditing experience;
- Experience maintaining quality systems;
- Strong analytical skills;

Excellent compensation and benefit package offered!

Feel free to pass this message along to current or previous colleagues who may be interested. Referrals are always welcome and are greatly appreciated.
