2019 QAA SPRING CONFERENCE AND MEETING LODI, CALIFORNIA ON MAY 14 and 15, 2019

Spring 2019 California Conference and Meeting

The Quality Assurance Association will be holding their 2019 Spring Conference and Meeting in Lodi, California on May 14 and May 15. As usual, the QAA Conference and Meeting will have a variety of informative training and exciting events for everyone.

On Tuesday, May 14, the QAA Spring Conference and Meeting will begin with presentations, followed by a lunch, then a visit to the Lodi Wine Center, and tours of a local winery and manufacturing facility. On Tuesday evening a QAA “Team Building” Culinary and Beverage Extravaganza Workshop aka Cooking School Demonstration and Dinner has been scheduled. This type of event has become very popular at our Spring Conferences and Meeting these past years. We are pleased to once again offer a “Team Building” workshop in 2019.

On Wednesday, May 15, we have a full day of informative training events scheduled. Come learn about the New FSMA Rule - Food Defense Plan Compliance Requirements; Quality Management System Solutions; Environmental / Microbiological Issues and Challenges; and presentation on Where to take Free On-line or In-person Training ranging from various subjects, such as Allergen Awareness, Cross-Contamination, Foodborne Illness, Root Cause Analysis, and Vacuum Packaging, to just name a few.

There are more training subjects on the QAA Spring Conference and Meeting agenda, so don't miss this opportunity to attend and keep up-to-date on the latest requirements and developments, see www.qualityassuranceassociation.org for further information.
